“My education was revolutionized by an internship at a community development NGO in Ecuador, a semester gaining fresh perspectives on diplomacy at a Chilean university, and a summer with the Oxford Program. The skills in cross-cultural communication and adaptability that I learned then have been vital to my current position at the Smithsonian Institution’s Office of International Relations.”

“The Global Public Policy Institute (GPPI) does work in a large range of issue areas, and I worked in the data and technology politics division. I contributed to work on topics such as encryption, artificial intelligence, digitization of government agencies, and the role of social media companies in the spread of disinformation. I also worked extensively with the Transatlantic Digital Debates program, a dialogue program hosted by GPPI. This was the first internship I’ve had where the work was related to my major in such a literal way, so it was satisfying to be able to apply what I learned through my coursework to my work at GPPI.”

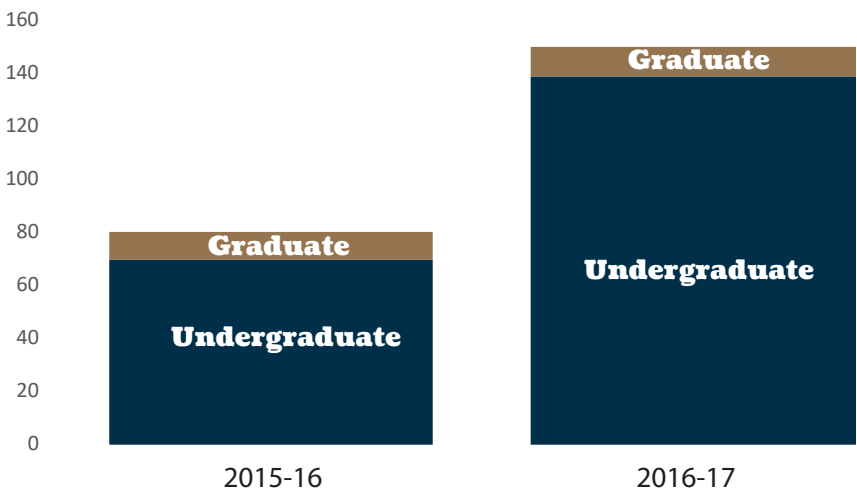

-Sophie Dumas, Senior, Public Policy Interned with the Global Public Policy Institute in Berlin

Excellence in advising remains high priority

- The 2016-2017 academic year included heightened visa and immigration vetting and enforcement, government processing delays, and three Executive Orders impacting visas and travel. International Student and Scholar Advisors prioritize staying informed about the changing policies to provide accurate and timely guidance to students about a range of immigration and visa issues.
- Most frequent advising topics: employment benefits, travel preparations, academic and immigration documentation changes.
- 7,905 advising walk-in sessions and appointments provided by eight International Student and Scholar Advisors. 90% of advising survey respondents rated services as 'highest satisfaction' for advisor knowledge and respect.
- "The advisor was very kind and understanding of my concerns and answered all of my questions clearly and concisely, exactly what I was hoping for."
